Inside Your Home

Your Decorating Problems Answered

By BEN L. WALLACE, Decorator

Dear Mr. Wallace, We own an apartment house in Lomita that has units we must furnish. I would like to know if it is a good idea to decorate all of the apartments in the same decor or to diversify, by using modern furniture in four units and colonial furniture in the other four units. Please advise.

Mrs. J. J., Lomita. Mrs. J. J., I do not have enough of the basic facts to advise you completely, but I think that by giving a diversified choice of both colonial and a modern furnished apartment would certainly be effective in renting. Bear one thing in mind however that your best buys are always made on a volume purchase, so think of the money outlay first and weigh this against the amount of rent, clients, upkeep, and etc.

Mr. Wallace, Is there any way that you can decorate a long hallway in a home besides just painting it. Please give me a suggestion in your column.

Mrs. Janis T., Torrance. Mrs. Janis T., Hallways are sometimes quite difficult because they are generally cut up by doors and cupboard. My best recommendation to you is to wallpaper the largest wall area side with a scenic paper with a lot of depth content to give a larger look and therefore take away the long corridor look. In some cases you can paint the end of a long hall a rather vibrant color to help down this long look.

Mr. Wallace, I have heard that it is not good to use a bookcase in the living area. Would you please comment on this?

Mrs. John Z., Harbor City. Mrs. John Z., Using a bookcase in the living area is in most cases good sound decorating. Books can give a room color and a subtle intelligent look achieved by nothing else. Probably the people telling you this do not have any books to show, so you know how that story goes.

Mrs. Wallace, Would you please tell me what A.I.D. and N.S.I.D. stand for in the decorating business?

Mrs. J. W., A.I.D. stands for American Institute of Decorators and N.S.I.D. stands for National Society of Interior Designers, two very fine organizations designed to further the decorating profession.

Note: Send your questions on a card or letter to, Ben L. Wallace, care of The Torrance Press, 3238 Sepulveda Blvd., Calif.

College President to Tell of Russian Life; Education

Community organizations in this area will have an opportunity to hear first hand about Russian life and education from Los Angeles Trade-Technical College President F. Parker Wilber when he returns to Los Angeles in July from his present tour of Soviet technicians or trade schools.

The college president, the only West Coast representative selected by the request of the State Department and the sole public school educator in the group, is presently on a 24-day East-West Cultural Exchange tour of the Russian Trade schools with five other prominent college administrators.

Other members of the group are Walter M. Hartung, dean of the New York State Academy of Aeronautics; Edmund J. Gleazer Jr., executive director of the American Association of Junior College; Joseph P. Kozlowski, professional assistant at the National Science Foundation; A. Ray Sims, dean of the College of Technology at the University of Houston in Texas, and Karl O. Werwath, president of the Milwaukee School of Engineering.

All of the members of the delegation, sponsored by the American Association of Junior Colleges and financed by the National Science Foundation, are identified with higher education and specifically with the technical institute program.

This program offers two-year combination theory and laboratory courses, closely associated with industry, in technical and engineering subjects, and graduates are called Engineering Technicians.

President Wilber, a recognized authority in the field of vocational education, said in an interview shortly before he left that the team expected to visit at 30 to 40 technicians, in addition to manufacturing plants, correspondence schools, on-the-job training areas, and industries.

Travel plans called for the delegation to see two schools a day, six days a week. During the evening, they hoped to take in the circus, ballet, opera, and other theater performances.

The three-fold purpose of the visit is to make a comparative study of Soviet and U.S. methods of training technicians and other semi-professional people who assist engineers and scientists, to set up an exchange of visitor and information with the Soviets on the community college and technicum level through conferences with officials of the Ministry of Higher Education and other ministries, and to visit the technicians to get first hand information on programs, facilities, and personnel.

PLANS On May 31 the group plans to leave Moscow for Copenhagen, Denmark, where they will spend two days writing a complete report on their visit for the National Science Foundation.

Shortly after his return to Los Angeles, President Wilber plans to lecture and show his slides of Russia to interested community organizations in this area.

While President Wilber is in Russia, Dr. Dwight Adams, dean of admissions and guidance and a resident of the Crenshaw area, will be acting president.

Unfortunately, President Wilber will not be on hand to see the completion of an extensive building program currently being conducted at the college. Two three-story structures, one to house the culinary arts and arts departments, and the other to house the building trade classes, will be completed early in the summer, and students will move into the new classrooms in September.

Flags in Our History Exhibited

A special exhibit commemorating Flag Day, June 14, and Independence Day, July 4, is open to the public today, Thursday, June 1, at the Los Angeles County Museum. Titled "Flags in American History," it will continue through July 30.

The display features the 13 star flag of the American Revolution, the 34 star flag of the Civil War period and the new 50 star flag. Also on view is an original document relating to the celebration of the first Fourth of July in Los Angeles in 1847. Lent by Santa Monica sculptor Dwight Franklin, the document is a directive signed by Colonel J. D. Stevenson on July 2, 1847, giving instructions for the first raising of the Stars and Stripes over Los Angeles on July 4 at newly completed Fort Moore.

The flags have been selected from the museum's collection, which is one of the largest in the West, comprising more than 100 flags of historic significance.
